

Can I sit in the lockers

Overview

Unlock the secrets to a clean and respectful locker room experience with these 15 essential rules. From personal hygiene to considerate behavior. Locker room etiquette starts with mutual respect. It's the unwritten rule that keeps everything running smoothly. A friendly nod or quick. Has anyone else experienced someone who just sits in the gym locker room for hours?

I've started to notice an older lady who always seems to be in the gym locker room. Sometimes she'll be swimming but 70% of the time I will walk into the locker room and she will either be sitting starting at the TV. However, nothing can ruin the feeling of accomplishment than seeing other members breaking every gym etiquette rule as if there was a contest to see how foul they could be in public. Please kindly place them in the towel bins provided for your convenience. As a triathlete, I spend a fair amount of time at the gym and in men's locker rooms. Locker rooms are great if they're used appropriately, if not. they can be disgusting cesspools of bacteria and offensive.
